

MOVING UP

Congratulations Brittany Marquette

With the restructuring of the Wedding & Conference Sales Team, it became apparent that more sales support was needed to accelerate growth, especially for the Conference segment. Fortunately, we already had an excellent candidate on the team and Brittany was ready for the challenge. Along with her coordination responsibilities, Brittany will be expanding her role to include some sales responsibilities. Brittany will be the primary contact for any returning conference business; a seamless transition having worked with and supported these groups through their initial conference event. She will also support Kasey in outreach to grow both smaller and larger conferences including reunions, board meetings, affinity groups, and more.

Brittany's knowledge of the resort is deep and well rounded – learned from years of experience. She worked as a Front Desk agent for many years, took a hiatus, and returned to Jay Peak in 2023 as an Events Coordinator with a focus on Conferences. Brittany has a lived Jay Peak history, learned critical tools like Maestro, and established strong relationships across departments. Brittany's events are executed with precision, not attention to detail is too small, and she is often lauded by other departments for her good work.

It's exciting to watch Brittany grow with the Sales Team and we're grateful she was up for this new challenge.
